Brand New Book  Print on Demand .David Wolnerman was born in 1927 in Modrzejow, Poland. Hannah, David's mother, gave birth to him on the kitchen floor of a two room home. His father had a humble job selling used burlap bags in the village. Abraham, David's brother, and his sisters, Bluma and Gertrude, enjoyed playing soccer with a ball made from their old socks. They were happy. There were both Jews and non-Jews living there and as the war broke out, life got more and more difficult for the Jews. Anti-Semitism was a problem and as Nazi soldiers came often, violence increased. Soldiers came looking for Jewish works so at age thirteen, David made a decision to go with them. They told me if I came to work, my family would be spared. To save his family, David went with them. He was taken to a camp called Auschwitz, just five kilometers from the village. Upon arrival, he saw a man separating the people into two lines, one to the left and one to the right. I saw the people that went left. They were older, crippled, or with young children. I just knew that if I went left it wasn't good. David walked up to the man who was making the decisions. That man was Dr. Joseph Mengele. He asked, Wie alt bist du? (How old are you?) David told him, I am eighteen. What allowed David to lie about his age at that moment he doesn't know. God told me something. I went right. If not, I would have been sent to my death, he recalls. There was nothing in the camps, David recalls. No...
